

Sail Away - Ian Luther

To fall in love is to sail an ocean
On endless waves across the sea
To plumb the depths of our devotion
So jump on board and sail away with me

But sometimes love can lose all its meaning
Swept away on a stormy night
And if you get that sinking feeling
Take me in your arms and hold on tight

And we'll sail away
Across the deep blue sea
Sail away
Just take my hand and
Sail away with me

Now I'm no Christopher Columbus
But if your ship is lost at sea
Your heart will guide you like a compass
And you will find your way back to me

And we'll sail away
Across the deep blue sea
Sail Away
Just take my hand and
Sail away with me

So let's sail away into the sunrise
On endless waves across the sea
We'll kiss beneath the moonlit skies
So take my hand and sail away with me
Take my hand and sail away with me
Just take my hand and sail away with me
